I am traveling on my motorcycle this summer. The only radio that I have is XM. I used for traffic reports this weekend, and also for the weather to keep me informed of any severe weather. I also used the weather part last summer when I was traveling in LA. to keep me informed about the hurricane and possible change of my travel plans due to where the hurricane was headed to. I like the service and would like to keep it available to all listeners. XM in MY OPINION is not stepping on ANYBODIES TOES. Taking these channels off is a DISSERVICE to it's subscribers. The XM signal can get to people to notify them of traffic and weather that the local channels cannot.(since there are parts of this country that the "good ole FM signal cannot reach. IE rural and mountain areas)
